

Country Girl Loves Rock N' Roll

Written By Karissa Hoffart

She's a little southern sweet
But a rocking machine when it comes to partying hard
Singing Dirty deeds done dirt cheap, whaling on that air guitar
She wears her cowboy boots with her leather jacket
She's the girl next door who's making' Racket
Bout' to blow your mind

She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll
She likes to turn it up, loud and out of control
When the beat goes down, she'll be rippin up this town
She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll

She's a whole lotta love
But was born to run, when the boys are back in town
Her daddy raised her right, taught her how to fight, so she could hold her own
She wears her belt buckle with her sunglasses
She's all dolled up, using all her assets
Don't mess with her

She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll
She likes to turn it up, loud and out of control
When the beat goes down, she'll be rippin up this town
She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll

Don't get me wrong
She likes her Patsy Cline, Loretta Lynn and Dolly too
But when Joan Jet and The Blackhearts come on her body starts to move
She likes the rodeo
Living off the land, where the prairies skies so blue
But a stadium with guns and roses fans
Is when she really cuts loose

She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll
She likes to turn it up, loud and out of control
She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll
She likes to turn it up, loud and out of control
When the beat goes down, she'll be rippin up this town
She's a country girl, who loves rock n roll

Country girl loves rock n roll
Ohhh she loves rock and roll
